These are the major concluding remarks.

Conclusions

1. In 2018 - 2020, most of the sales occurred in the West Region of the United States, specifically California, with the largest population and highest median income. In the other regions, the key states for the largest sales are Texas (South), Illinois (Midwest) and New York (Northeast).
 - a) More successful teams (e.g. Catherine Reynolds) have a bigger network of stores across the United States and a higher number of stores in those key states.
 - b) Catherine Reynolds focuses its sales more evenly among the four Regions compared to the other less successful teams with a larger variation of sales between the Regions.
2. The top sales categories are different from year to year. In general, though, tech products show the highest sales values across all sales teams, with Video Games topping the rankings for 2020.
3. Each sales team uses one or two sales channels, with the In-Store one being the most popular choice. A specific sales channel, however, may not be a factor for success, as there is no observation of high sales teams using one channel and the low sales teams using another.
